

Screen Studies Collection

The Screen Studies Collection offers powerful resources for film scholarship.

Subjects covered include film history, film theory and film criticism, with global coverage and more than 2 million index records.

- American Film Institute Catalogue (AFI) – Includes every film produced in America or by an American company from 1893 to present day
- Film Index International (FII) – Major information resource for entertainment films made in collaboration with the British Film Institute
- International Index to Film Periodical Database (FIAF) – Brings together institutions dedicated to rescuing and preserving films

Find out more here:

www.proquest.com/products-services/Screen-Studies-Collection.html